

Amit Itai

Associate

Silicon Valley
D: +1-650-473-2647
aitai@omm.com

Amit Itai represents emerging technology companies in a broad range of transactional and general corporate matters, including technology licensing, venture capital and private equity financing, mergers and acquisitions, and cross-border transactions.

Amit is also a member of O'Melveny's Data Security & Privacy Group and advises clients on issues such as GDPR and CCPA compliance, data breach laws, and the regulation of artificial intelligence.

As a member of both the Israel and California Bar, Amit has substantial experience working with Israeli clients from a variety of industries and technology areas.

Amit focuses on artificial intelligence, life sciences and healthcare, as well as a variety of other technologies, including cybersecurity, autonomous vehicles, and software.

Prior to joining O'Melveny, Amit practiced at a leading Israeli law firm, and was a senior in-house counsel in one of the world's largest pharmaceutical companies.

Professional Activities

Publications

- Co-Author, "Avoiding Human Bias in Artificial Intelligence," Bloomberg Law Professional Perspectives (November 2020)
- Co-Author, "Bias in Artificial Intelligence: Is Your Bot Bigoted?," Bloomberg Law (October 2020)
- Co-Author, "Who's Suing Us? Decoding Patent Plaintiffs Since 2000 with the Standard NPE Dataset," Stanford Technology Law Review (September 2018)

Admissions

Bar Admissions

California
Israel

Education

Tel Aviv University, J.D.: magna cum laude; Dean's List

Stanford University, JSM: Gerlad Gunther Prize; John M. Olin Fellow; Co-Founder: Stanford Artificial Intelligence & Law Society

Languages

- Hebrew