Angela Perry is a staff attorney in O'Melveny's Washington, DC office and member of the Litigation Department. Her practice encompasses both electronic discovery matters and strategic counseling. She advises multinational clients on matters of attorney client privilege in FCPA investigations, and corporate and Congressional investigations. Angela also advises clients on attorney client privilege and the fiduciary exception in ERISA litigation matters. Angela is a member of the Sedona Conference's International Electronic Information Management, Discovery and Disclosure working group. This group focuses on issues that arise in the context of electronic information management and e-disclosure subject to litigation and regulatory oversight in multiple jurisdictions with potentially conflicting international laws.

Prior to coming to O'Melveny, Angela's practice focused on sports and entertainment law advising clients on matters of intellectual property and family law.
