Brittany Rogers, a securities litigation partner in O'Melveny's Los Angeles Office, defends companies and their officers and directors in high profile lawsuits in state and federal court. Brittany's diverse practice spans securities litigation, corporate governance disputes, and complex business litigation, with a particular emphasis on securities class actions, derivative suits, and fiduciary duty litigation. She has an impressive track record of obtaining early dismissals in securities matters and successfully defending clients who face multiple overlapping lawsuits in different jurisdictions. Brittany also represents companies, boards, and special committees in government and internal investigations, where she has significant experience advising on conflicts and privilege issues.

Brittany is known for her strategic approach to cases and her ability to achieve favorable solutions for her clients' most pressing concerns. At O'Melveny, Brittany emphasizes teamwork, efficiency, and the primacy of her clients' goals. Her commitment to excellence, leadership, and citizenship has been recognized with the Warren Christopher Values Award, the highest honor awarded by O'Melveny.

In addition to her legal work, Brittany serves as O'Melveny's Firmwide Work Advisor Partner, and she is a longtime member of the Los Angeles Office's Employment Committee. Outside of the Firm, Brittany is the President-Elect of the Federal Bar Association, Los Angeles Chapter. She is also dedicated to pro bono work involving social impact litigation and the representation of underserved litigants.
