KohSweeney Discusses Recent US Supreme Court Decision with GC Agenda

July 11, 2017

O'Melveny partner Adam KohSweeney is featured in a July 11, 2017, article in GC Agenda about a US Supreme Court decision reaffirming that state rules that have an anti-arbitration effect will not invalidate an agreement to arbitrate.

Based in the firm's San Francisco office, KohSweeney works on matters involving an array of labor and employment-related issues under federal and state law. He represents and counsels a variety of employers, including companies in the financial services, hospitality, airline, and construction industries.
