O'Melveny's Dellinger Quoted in USA Today on Supreme Court's Coming Term

October 03, 2013

O'Melveny & Myers partner Walter Dellinger was quoted in an October 2, 2013, USA Today article focused on the Supreme Court's upcoming term in which it will examine "hot-button issues" of race, abortion rights, prayers at government meetings, and healthcare. In the article, Dellinger observes that the court now shows "the full flowering" of Justice Samuel Alito's replacement by Sandra Day O'Connor in 2006, which may lead upcoming rulings to lean toward conservative interests.

Dellinger is a member of the Appellate Practice at O'Melveny and resides in the Firm's Washington, DC office.
