This Global Competition Review article reported that O’Melveny was named to its “2020 Global Elite” list, which recognizes “the top 25 firms practicing competition law internationally.” According to the release, GCR considers firms with “[a] competition practice recommended by our bar surveys on more than one continent – for example, in both Canada and South Africa, or both Washington, DC and Brussels,” ranking them based on the work over the last year.

With a team that includes veterans of the US Department of Justice’s Antitrust Division and the Federal Trade Commission, O’Melveny’s Antitrust & Competition practice is consistently ranked among the top global antitrust practices. Last year, the firm successfully defended the DOJ’s challenge to the AT&T/Time Warner merger in what is known as “the antitrust trial of the century.”
