

The Washington Times: Legal Activists Seek Release of Juvenile Inmates in Louisiana

May 14, 2020

RELATED PRACTICES

Coronavirus Resource Center

O'Melveny is representing the plaintiffs in a class-action claim to release youths incarcerated at Louisiana's juvenile prisons amid the COVID-19 pandemic, this article reported. The lawsuit claims conditions have become dangerous for the prisoners, 28 of whom have tested positive for the coronavirus along with 41 staffers, The Washington Times reported. Those numbers could rise with more testing, the lawsuit noted.

Read the full article here.