Meeker to Discuss Open Source Projects at Strategy Forum

November 8, 2017

O'Melveny partner Heather Meeker will be among the speakers at Symphony Software Foundation's Open Source Strategy Forum to be held November 8, 2017, at the BNY Mellon Conference Center in New York.

The event, aimed at executives, senior technologists, compliance officers, and IP counsels from financial services firms, will offer insights from bank executives, open source and enterprise thought leaders, and experienced attorneys. Meeker will serve on a panel about leveraging open source as a key part of a corporate technology strategy.

Based in Silicon Valley, Meeker advises technology clients on intellectual property matters, including technology transactions, open source software licensing, and technology and IP issues in mergers and acquisitions.
