O'Melveny Newport Beach to Host "Dealing with the Street: The Current Securities Litigation Environment and How to Avoid Getting Sued"

May 25, 2010

O'Melveny's Newport Beach office will host a seminar, "Dealing with the Street: The Current Securities Litigation Environment and How to Avoid Getting Sued," on May 25. Securities Litigation partners Seth Aronson (LA), Phil Kaplan (NB), and Meredith Landy (SV) will offer practical insight on how companies can navigate the current securities litigation landscape and steer clear of potential lawsuits. Topics will include:

- Recent legislative and case law developments and the implications for your business
- Securities litigation trends and what's around the corner
- The dos and don'ts of dealing with analysts
- How to handle your earnings statements
- What plaintiffs look for when deciding to sue
- Establishing a loss causation defense
- The workings of the safe harbor provision
