Rothenberg to Speak at the ABA's Chemical Products Seminar

October 13, 2011

O'Melveny partner Eric Rothenberg (NY), Director of the Firm's Energy, Natural Resources and Environment Practice, will be speaking at the American Bar Association's Chemical and Industrial Products/Mass Torts Seminar in Wilmington, Delaware on October 13, 2011. His panel is entitled, "Liaison Counsel v. Non-Liaison Counsel, Zealous Representation In The Mass Tort Setting: Can't We All Get Along?" The group will be discussing the issues and tensions that arise from the appointment of "liaison counsel," "trial counsel," and "discovery counsel" in mass tort cases involving multiple plaintiffs and multiple defendants as well as how to best represent one's client throughout a case.
