Srinivasan to Participate in Santa Clara Law Review Symposium on Business and the Roberts Court

January 23, 2009

O'Melveny partner Sri Srinivasan recently spoke at "Big Business and the Roberts Court: Explaining the Court's Receptiveness to Business Interests." The symposium, will take place on January 23, 2009, and is sponsored by the Santa Clara Law Review.

The symposium provides "a forum for dialogue, debate, and analysis of the various constitutional issues and explanations for what some have called the Court's extreme friendliness to American business interests."

The participants will include a number of legal scholars and representatives from the National Chamber Litigation Center and the Public Citizen Litigation Group.
