Trainor to Discuss Changes in Domestic Industry at ITC Litigation & Enforcement Conference

March 6, 2018

O'Melveny partner Sean Trainor will serve on the panel "Inside the Changing Nuances of Domestic Industry: What the Latest Developments Reveal About Establishing DI" at American Conference Institute's 10th Expert Forum on ITC Litigation & Enforcement on March 6, 2018, in Washington, DC.

The panel will explore the nuances affecting the interpretation of DI, such as in the context of R&D, hurdles affecting complaints before the ITC, and securing proof of DI from third parties.

Based in Washington, DC, Trainor is a seasoned litigator who focuses primarily on patent litigation before the ITC. His experience spans all phases of litigation and a broad range of technologies.
