Overview

Encompassing all aspects of the industry, including governmental regulation, financing, exploration and production, refining, transportation, and marketing, O'Melveny's Oil, Gas, Resources and Mining Group is unique in its diversity. Our full-service team is built to help oil, gas, and pipeline operators, metals, mining, and forest products companies—and the investors who finance them—preserve value, capitalize on opportunities, and achieve their strategic objectives.

The far-reaching, multi-disciplinary composition of our team allows us to produce strong results for clients, whether in high-stakes environmental actions in the US, key transactions in Southeast Asia, high-value joint ventures, a review of the business practices of emerging markets subsidiaries, or industry-related restructurings.

From the acquisition and exploitation of exploration and production rights to the sale and transport of raw materials and finished product, we blend sophisticated industry knowledge with diverse securities, environmental, regulatory, tax, restructuring, and transactional law capabilities.

Accolades

"With its national coverage and depth of expertise, the firm's bet-the-company labor and employment litigation practice is very well known."
