Overview

O'Melveny's award-winning corporate governance team provides practical, boardroom-level counseling to public and private company clients. We leverage our lawyers' decades of experience as former senior SEC officials and as members of public company boards of directors to help clients manage legal and reputational risks, ensure compliance, and advance corporate objectives in the boardroom and executive suite.

Our clients rely on us in routine and high-stakes situations alike, including for:

- Public company reporting and disclosure, registration requirements, and generally accepted accounting principles
- Trends and best practices in board and committee composition, succession planning, conflict of interests, and fiduciary duty obligations
- Succession planning for executives and directors
