Law360's September 17, 2015, "Four Ways Millennials Are Changing BigLaw," quotes O'Melveny & Myers' partner Allen Burton about how the Firm appeals to the millennial generation through its comprehensive programs dedicated to a healthy work/life balance and technology programs that allow lawyers and staff to work from anywhere. The article talks about O'Melveny's career development specialist who helps lawyers achieve their career goals and a culture of mentorship and transparency that allow associates to talk to partners about their lives in and out of the Firm.

Burton is a New York-based litigator and Firmwide Hiring Partner.
