

In the News

The American Lawyer: O'Melveny, California's Top Litigation Department, on AT&T-Time Warner and Collegiality

January 6, 2020

RELATED PRACTICES

Litigation

The American Lawyer published this Q&A with O'Melveny's litigation team, which earned the publication's 2019 Top California Litigation Department of the Year award.

"As part of our commitment to every client, we put ourselves in their shoes: learning their business, understanding their priorities and recognizing what keeps them up at night," O'Melveny responded to a question about its Litigation Department's philosophy. "We focus primarily on handling the matters of most concern to our existing clients. Some are bet-the-company cases. Some have importance for other reasons—a client's reputation may be at stake or the law may be adapting to new technology. Because these types of cases are not cookie-cutter, we field a range of talent from across our 15 offices around the world."

Read the full profile here.