Former Vice President Joe Biden has formed an advisory committee on the coronavirus that includes O'Melveny partner Lisa Monaco, The New York Times reported.

“On Wednesday, [Biden’s] team announced the formation of a ‘Public Health Advisory Committee’ studied with prominent health leaders and alumni of former President Barack Obama’s administration — a rollout that seemed intended to conjure the actions a president might take,” the article read. “Members included Vivek Murthy, a former surgeon general; Ezekiel J. Emanuel, a prominent oncologist and a vice provost at the University of Pennsylvania; and Lisa Monaco, who served as a homeland security and counterterrorism adviser to Mr. Obama.”
