Several media outlets, including TheStreet.com, BNA, and Fox 28, announced the publication of the 2011 Edition of "Preserving Electronically Stored Information: A Practical Approach," coauthored by Jeffrey Fowler, cofounder of O'Melveny & Myers' Electronic Discovery and Document Retention Practice and a member of the Firm's Class Action, Mass Torts, and Aggregated Litigation Practice. The book offers practical advice for litigators on how to preserve e-mails, data, and other electronically stored information. The portfolio includes examples, worksheets, and the latest case law.
