

In the News

O'Melveny's Virjee Quoted in Daily Journal on Alternative Fee Arrangements

July 18, 2012

The Daily Journal's July 16, 2012, article "Billable Hours Still Strong at Law Firms" reports that only a small percentage of law firms use alternative fee arrangements for the majority of their work.

The article quotes O' Melveny & Myers LLP partner Framrose Virjee, who coordinates and provides structural approval for all alternative fee arrangements at the Firm: "One of the reasons AFA's became the soup du jour is that everybody was looking at value as a result of the Great Recession. The reason we're not seeing the big explosion...is because people have just mastered the ideas of rudimentary alternative fee management. I think what you're going to see is a slow and steady increase in [AFA] activity."

Virjee resides in the Firm's Los Angeles office and is a member of the Labor & Employment Practice.