FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LOS ANGELES—August 12, 2020—The Daily Journal has named Daniel Suvor, co-chair of O'Melveny's State Attorneys General Investigations and Litigation Group, to its list of 40 top California-based lawyers under the age of 40.

The Daily Journal noted that Suvor helped launch the firm's state attorneys general practice after working in the White House during the Obama Administration and for then-California Attorney General Kamala Harris, who was recently tapped as Joe Biden's running mate in the 2020 presidential election.

Suvor currently advises clients who are navigating state governments' regulatory authority, the publication wrote. His recent work includes representing prominent technology and healthcare companies in investigations by state attorneys general regarding potential violations of state laws.

O'Melveny's State Attorneys General Practice provides guidance and insight to those navigating the national landscape of increased enforcement and expanded attorney general authority. The firm's multidisciplinary team, which includes veteran litigators and former senior state attorney general officials, regularly works with attorneys general and their staffs to find favorable outcomes for clients, whether facing litigation, inquiries, or investigations, in one state or many.
